

Argus Service Bulletin AMM290506/1

An Argus fired on the ground after we shipped it to a dealer.

We discovered a bug in the May 06 batch, due to last minute software update that obviously went wrong.

We prefer to err on the side of caution. Therefore we stopped shipping right away and 40 units of the May batch that already had been shipped were recalled on the 27th of May. All concerned dealers and skydivers have been informed by phone and/or email

The recalled units were shipped to: USA, Japan, UK, Hungary, Poland and The Netherlands. These units will be upgraded as soon as we receive them and be shipped back to the owners after testing.

The Evaluation units and the April production batch are not concerned by this service bulletin.

We may be overreacting, but we will not compromise the safety of the skydivers. Shipping will start again by 8 June.
